NEW YORK, Sept. 13. (AP)—A severe hurricane struck Porto Rico today and was expected to reach the Island of Haiti before night fall, said cable advices to the French Telegraph. Cable company offices.

All business has been suspended in Porto Rico, the cable manager at San Juan reported, all land wires are down. No reports were received as to loss of life and property damage.

One message from San Juan said an east northeast wind of 90 miles velocity was blowing with the barometer at 20.50.

The storm is probably general over a good part of the West Indies. A special warning was sent out last night by the weather bureau to all vessels in those waters and in Cuba. The government meteorological station gave the residents of that island the disturbance might reach them.

The storm center last night was about 50 miles south of Kite. It was moving west-northward and was expected to pass south of the Virgin Islands this morning, skim the Southern coasts of Porto Rico and be over or near Southern Haiti tonight. Winds of hurricane force were accompanying the slow progress of the vortex of the disturbance.

Dangerous to Shipping.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 13. (AP)—The weather bureau today issued the following warning: "Advised 10 a. m. Hurricane central about 17 north 65 west moving west-northward. This is dangerous storm. Great caution advised vessels near path. Its center will likely pass south of Mona Passage early tonight and near or slightly south of city of Santo Domingo, Friday morning."

PATROLMAN SLAIN
BY MAN ENTERING
WARD OF HOSPITAL

NEW YORK, Sept. 13. (AP)—A patrolman on guard in the prison ward at Fordham Hospital was shot and killed yesterday morning. The men gained entrance to the hospital by one of them displaying a hand painted with iodine and asking for treatment. While an orderly was in search of a nurse they descended to the prison ward where they shot and killed Patrolman Jeremiah Brosnan with a sawed-off shotgun as he sat in an adjoining reception room.

The men dashed up the stairs past the orderly and nurse and escaped in a waiting automobile. Police are working on the theory that the slayer was former prisoner seeking revenge.

GRANTING OF BOND

DALLAS, Sept. 13. (AP)—Ray Adams, Bartlett farmer, was at liberty today on $25,000 bond granted after a preliminary hearing yesterday in the U. S. District Court of Orville Matthews here Sept. 1.

The shooting, which took place in the business section while hundreds of employees were on their way to work, is asserted to have resulted from an election bet. Matthews, employed by a Dallas bank, was said to be stake holder.

Before Adams left the court room yesterday he was served papers in a $50,225 damage suit filed by Victor Polson, who was struck in the mouth by a sharp bullet fired during the shooting.

GEORGIA VOTERS RETURN BIG MAJORITY FOR SUPPORT OF SMITH IN WEDNESDAY VOTING

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 13. (AP)—Verdict of Georgia Democrats was for Smith in the only major race of the state party primary yesterday in which the candidacy of the New York governor was an outstanding issue.

Congressman Leslie J. Steele, who stood as a staunch supporter of the party's ticket from Smith on down, gained a decisive victory over W. D. Upshaw, bitter foe of the national standard bearer, for the congressional nomination from the fifth district, including Atlanta.

The gubernatorial contest, where both candidates were within their party limits, saw the apparent nomination of Governor L. G. Hardman over the youthful state Senator E. D. Rivers.

Representative Steele, who wrested the seat in the house from Upshaw two years ago, on the basis of the popular vote, carried four of the five counties in the district.

On the basis of incomplete returns, Governor Hardman had an indicated unit vote of 288 to 112 for his opponent in the gubernatorial race.

One message from San Juan said an east northeast wind of 90 miles velocity was blowing with the barometer at 20.50.

All Non-Stop Races Over.

With the class B and D trans-continental races, the international race from Windsor, Ont., and a short coast sprint ended at Minefield yesterday, presents filed by some pilots competing east, doubtless on who would be awarded the prizes in the hotly contested class B New York to Los Angeles derby.

Several pilots protested the Waco planes flown were not stock models and therefore ineligible. John Livingston of Aurora, Ill., conceded by most of the racers to have chalked up the best elapsed time flew one of the protested models, and John H. Wood of Wausau, Wis., apparent winner of third place.

First across the line of the four finishers in B division was E. F. Hallough of Chicago. He was believed winner of second place on the unofficial computation of elapsed time. Wood was in second and Livingston third.

BEAUMONT, Sept. 13. (AP)—E. Dubose, manager of a local tire company, is a hospital here today as the result of being struck by a bullet from his revolver which dropped to the floor and was discharged when Dubose fell asleep while reading.

The bullet penetrated his body 16 inches but no vital organs were hit, physicians said.

PROHIBITION?

We know a large number of good men and women in Corsicana and Navarro county who have been prohibitionists all of their lives — prohibitionists in practice — not political prohibitionists and personally otherwise, who are supporting the Democratic ticket from president to constable. For these good people to be classed in the "whiskey crowd" and favoring the open saloon, as it is being intimated by some of the "boltoocrats" in their whispering campaign is an insult to the intelligent voter and these tactics will not be forgotten soon.

Just how dry is the Republican party? We have the eighteenth amendment. We have a Republican administration. We read in the papers last week where the Mayor of Philadelphia ordered 13,000 saloons closed in Philadelphia, a Republican stronghold. The next day we read in the papers where a gangster in Chicago was shot down in the business section of the Loop district in broad open daylight as he was returning from a conference at which the distribution of liquor in Chicago was discussed.

Again we ask — just how dry is the party Mr. Hoover represents? Can you imagine 13,000 saloons in Philadelphia — a conference in Chicago on ways and means for a more efficient distribution of liquor for the convenience of the customers?

And then can you imagine the Republican party with a bone dry plank that means anything?

We have the eighteenth amendment. It seems to us the only question concerning prohibition would be the enforcement of the pro statute. The past record does not show the Republican party has made any very serious effort to this end.

Politically dry and personally wet seems to fit this situation best.

UNSELFISH USES OF MONEY.

America needs a past and America needs a tradition. Very well, it will construct one — take a town and make it Colonial. And do a good job, too. It is rather staggering to hear in the twentieth century a Colonial town will be built. But that is to happen; for Williamsburg, Va., will move back through time and will become very much as it was in the war of American independence.

Here is another example of the strange interests and remarkable generosity of the American type of Mæcenates. There is, it appears, no rich American today who does not have his dreams. And there are many rich Americans. One may collect folios and manuscripts; another may buy Titians and Rembrants; another may start operas and symphonies; another may build a great library or establish a foundation for health or aviation; another may revive old dances and restore old inns, and now John D. Rockefeller, Jr., will rebuild a Colonial town. But none of them is niggardly in his dreams.

In the past nobobs have collected treasures and founded houses, all to their own glory and for their own pleasures. But in America the urge takes an unselfish expression. Somehow they seem to feel intensely that money is for another purpose than their own. The world has been benefited by this hunger of rich Americans. It has at its disposal humanitarian services that leap over frontiers and objects of beauty which might never have been known had not been easy to gain.

"COLLEGIATES" ON THE JOB.

Some of the best of the summer's non-fiction is the story of how college boys spent their vacations in honest toil, some of it sweaty and back-breaking.

Columbia, one of the world's largest universities, reports that 8,000 of its students were working on 200 different kinds of jobs and their earnings will total $4,000,000.

There is scarcely worth-while educational institution in America that cannot tell relatively the same story. Pots and pans, highway construction, all sorts of occupations are partly manned by college boys. The percentage of idleness among such youths is much smaller than some scoffers would dare admit.

It is a fine thing in many ways for the nation and the college boys that vacation is not invariably a loaf period. It may even be true that many a college lad is more serious about his summer than his college work. Certainly it is in the main good for his health and good for his wallet. In many instances it means easing the strain for self-sacrificing parents by adding to their budget for the boy's education. It is good for the boy because he becomes acquainted with the world, some finding it less, some more hard-boiled than expected. In every sense it is education as sound and useful in its way as the instruction that comes from class room and text book.

ANOTHER CONSTITUTION DAY.

With a presidential campaign on and with public attention focused upon the Eighteenth Amendment, Constitution Day, to be observed throughout the country on September 17, takes on a new significance. It is easy to understand why the proponents of this annual observance anticipate an unusual display of interest.

Most of the exercises, orations and explanatory talks connected with Constitution Day will, of course, be centered in the schools of the land. But adults, particularly those eligible to vote in November, may well take this occasion to brush up on the provisions of our fundamental law.

The main part of the document sets forth the somewhat uninteresting, but none the less important, structure of the federal government, together with the relations between that entity and the several states.

In the amendments, however, one comes to grips with the guarantees of American liberty, the first ten constituting the famous "bill of rights" and the rest including the ways in which the people of the United States have endeavored to keep the document in step with changing conditions.

It has been observed that Constitution Day may have the effect of inducing the American people to demand the freedom which the Constitution guarantees, but which is often denied as a result of political machinations and selfish propaganda. That is probably a vain, though worthy, hope.

THE LAW OF FRIENDSHIP

Emerson defined friendship by attributing to it the characteristics of Truth and Tenderness. Between friends, each may be sincerely himself, without the protection of sham or affectation often assumed in ordinary intercourse. "My friend," said Emerson, "gives me entertainment without requiring me to stoop, or to lisp, or to mask myself." Further, friendship needs tenderness to tide it over rough roads and hard fare, which are bound to come. The end of friendship is for aid and comfort through all the relations and passages of life and death. Without Truth and Tenderness, a friendship cannot survive such experience.

This kind of friendship seems of necessity to be limited to two persons. With the presence of a third, self-consciousness enters in and the fine sincerity of the former relation is lost. It is difficult enough to find two persons whose interests and personalities so complement each other as to make real

THE RADIO LECTURER.

Life seems to be capable of providing new sensations as they are needed for even the most astute individuals. The latest diversion is broadcasting on the wireless. "To err used to be human," says Christopher Morley; "now it is international."

A writer in a recent magazine tells of his sensations when broadcasting a report of an interview with a well-known man. His description of the contrast between ordinary lecturing and the process of broadcasting to an audience from all over the world is remarkable from the very uniqueness of its theme, and is humorous as well. "Not a hand, not a laugh. Bad enough, this; but what overwhelmed me with horror was the spectacle I clearly beheld. Night! Ilimitable black mountains, alive with people! All hating me! From a sickening altitude I gazed down upon them."

The time is not far off, however, when the glare of public censure or the light of its approval will shine as relentlessly upon the radio broadcaster as upon the author of books and the writer of verse. The fact that his production will go around the world should be an incentive for the highest effort toward perfection. It is a certainty that the increased use of the wireless will mean a corresponding development toward perfection of the art of public speaking.

friendship possible. A third would complicate the situation hopelessly.

Someone will say, what of the clubs and lodges where men grow intimate with each other? Such exist in numbers, it is true; but real friendship as defined by Emerson cannot develop in the midst of a group. The whole of each member's personality could never be grasped by the others. The law of one to one, as Emerson sums it up, is the practice and consummation of friendship.

The fact that the regular Democrats so far have not been making an active campaign here may lead some to believe the Republicans have a chance to carry this country. Those who would believe this are due a rude awakening when the votes are counted.

Even though estimates of the Navarro county cotton crop vary considerably all seem to agree the crop will be considerably larger than that of last year.

In jumping at conclusions you seldom grab a good one.

FORMER CORSICANA CITIZEN DIED EARLY TUES., BROWNSVILLE

E. H. CHURCH WILL BE BURIED IN THAT CITY THURS. DAY AFTERNOON

BROWNSVILLE, Sept. 11.—(Spl.) E. H. Church, aged 74 years, formerly cashier of the First National Bank of Corsicana, died here Tues. day morning at 5:15 o'clock at the home of his daughter, Mrs. McKay, 452 Levee street, and the funeral services will be held here Thurs. day afternoon at 3 o'clock. Members of the family said that his death was hastened as a result of the shock from the death of his son, Dr. Garity Church, Aug. 11, at Point Isabel.

Mr. Church was born in Corsicana, Feb. 28, 1854, and was married to Miss Lillian Payne, April 19, 1874. He was connected with the Garity & Huey bank about 50 years ago. Thomas Garity, Rev. Emmet Day, Presbyterian pastor, officiating, burial being in the local cemetery.

Mr. Church was a native Texan and was born at Corsicana, September 4, 1854, residing in that city all his life until he moved to Brownsville about a year ago to T. J. Carmody of Dallas.

Former Corsican Dies Suddenly Early Thursday in Borger

According to information received in Corsicana Thursday, Clarence Norwood, former resident of Corsicana and well-known here, died suddenly in Borger, Texas, on Thursday morning about nine o'clock. Details of his death and funeral arrangements were not learned. A brother, Joe Norwood, and numerous other relatives survive.

SAN ANTONIO MAN HEADS ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE OF TEXAS

DALLAS, Sept. 13.—(AP)—Judge M. A. Chidlers of San Antonio was elected president of the board of managers of the Anti-Saloon League of Texas at an executive session of 20 members of the board here today.

Judge Chidlers, former vice-president, succeeds Dr. J. C. Hardy. He also was a member of the insurance firm of Plunkett & Church, later the Church & Middleton. He was also a member of the W. O. W. and Macabees.

Surviving are his wife, three daughters, Mrs. Payne, Mrs. McKay and Mrs. Carmody.

He was well known in the business and fraternal circles of Corsicana.

Mr. Church will be buried by the side of his son, Dr. Garity Church, in Brownsville, friends and pall-bearers of his son serving as his own, together with his old friends of Corsicana.

FUNERAL SERVICES IN BROWNSVILLE FOR EDWIN H. CHURCH

BROWNSVILLE, Sept. 12.—(Spl.) Just two days after two local youths had been indicted by the Cameron county grand jury for the murder of his son, Dr. J. Garity Church, E. H. Church, 74, formerly a hotel owner here, died of a heart attack.

The father had been ill for some time and was prostrated by the violent death of his son on the night of August 11 at Point Isabel, when he was choked to death with his own necktie. Truett Cowan and Simon Celaya, who were with Dr. Church at the time of his death, were indicted Saturday, and their trial has been set for September 17.

Funeral services will be held at the Kinkley undertaking parlor at 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Rev. Emmet Day, Presbyterian pastor, officiating, burial being in the local cemetery.

Mr. Church was a native Texan and was born at Corsicana, September 4, 1854, residing in that city all his life until he moved to Brownsville about a year ago to T. J. Carmody of Dallas.

be with his son.

He is survived by his wife, who resides here, and three daughters, Mrs. F. S. McKay of Brownsville, Mrs. N. F. Payne of Cisco and Mrs. T. J. Carmody of Dallas.

Equalization Board Began Sittings For Hearing Complaints

Members of the equalization board of the city of Corsicana began their sittings in the commission chamber of the city hall Wednesday morning, preparatory to the sending out of the tax assessments and the hearing of complaints on the changes.

Arguments on the bill of exceptions to the intrusion in office filed by Dr. Joseph A. O'Hara, appointed president of the health board by Governor Long, against Dr. Oscar Dowling, who claims he is still president, were scheduled for hearing today but were called off.

Agreement was reached that both sides will draw up answer to be filed next Monday and shortly thereafter submit the case by briefs.

The charge that Dr. Dowling was not a qualified elector was withdrawn while attorneys for Dowling agreed to strike out certain exceptions.

COURT GETS CASE LOUISIANA HEALTH HEAD ON BRIEFS

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 13.—(U)—Attorneys in the Dowling-O'Hara court controversy agreed to submit the question of who is the legal president of the Louisiana board of health without verbal argument.

Arguments on the bill of exceptions to the intrusion in office filed by Dr. Joseph A. O'Hara, appointed president of the health board by Governor Long, against Dr. Oscar Dowling, who claims he is still president, were scheduled for hearing today but were called off.

Agreement was reached that both sides will draw up answer to be filed next Monday and shortly thereafter submit the case by briefs.

The charge that Dr. Dowling was not a qualified elector was withdrawn while attorneys for Dowling agreed to strike out certain exceptions.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Tapp and two children, Imradine and Raymond, of Hubbard, were visitors in Corsicana Thursday morning.

HIGH SCHOOL HAS LARGE ATTENDANCE
OTHERS CROWDED
LACK OF SUFFICIENT FUNDS
PRECLUDES EXPANDING ACTIVITIES

A general discussion of the condition of the Corsicana public schools and the selection of the First State bank as a depository for school funds marked the first session of the board of education after the beginning of the 1928-29 school year.

Plans for the school year have been worked out to care for a maximum of 3800 children, including 800 in the colored schools. W. P. McCammon, president of the board announced following the meeting. In order to care for this number the faculty composed of 108 teachers are employed by the school board and this staff is augmented by two stenographers and eight janitors.

The greatest attendance in the history of the Corsicana High school was reported at the meeting Wednesday when the total enrollment up to that date was announced at 712. It was also reported that twenty-seven of the classes exceeded the seating capacity of the class rooms from three to twelve.

A heavy increase has been noted in the demand for kork in the commercial department, and these classes have been necessarily limited by the lack of teachers, room and equipment, members of the board stated.

Four additional teachers are needed in the colored schools at this time in order to meet the requirements for one teacher to forty students; the board declared that they were unable to supply these teachers at this time since the limit of the budget for this scholastic year had been reached, and it was not known where relief could be secured.

The budget of the schools for this year calls for expenditures of $175,000 in teachers' salaries and running expenses. According to a careful study of the expenditures of the local school system, it has been determined that the average cost per student is $55, based on the daily average attendance. This attendance figure last year was about 3000. The average cost of instruction for Corsicana is considerably lower than in many other towns and cities the size of Corsicana, a study of the statistics showing other cities ranging from $85 to $100 per child.

A part of the program for the public schools is being delayed at this time because of the lack of funds and equipment. No kindergarten teacher has been employed this year for the Robt. E. Lee school, and no appropriation has been made for the support of the public health nurse. Members of the board were outspoken in their appreciation of the services being rendered by the nurse, and expressed their regret that they were unable to make a substantial contribution to the work.

No relief is in sight for the crowded condition of the High school, president McCammon stated after the meeting, and further extensions of the school program could be projected, since the limit of the budget had been reached. The policy of the board for the year was announced as better service for the children with no new lines of endeavor.

The First State bank was declared the successful bidder, and was selected as the depository of the school funds for the 1928-29 year. The bid carried four per cent interest on deposits, and a charge of seven per cent on loans.

Former Educator of Texas Is Dead

SAN ANGELO, Sept. 13.—(P)—Frank J. St. John, 68, formerly head of school systems in Hubbard City, Belinger, Lometa, Robert Lee and Eldorado, died last night in Los Angeles, a message received here today disclosed. Burial will be at Kosse.

St. John, who was first assistant superintendent of public instruction in Arizona prior to his breakdown in health two years ago, is survived by three sisters, a brother, two daughters and his wife.

CONTINUE HEARING ON CHARGES AGAINST CATTLE SHIPPERS

AUSTIN, Sept. 13.—(P)—Hearing of the petition of the Texas Mexican Railway company to charge against shippers cost of transporting cars which had carried dirt livestock to the disinfecting plant at Laredo and of cleaning and disinfecting those cars was continued today before the railroad commissioners.

Proposal of carriers to substitute new interstate rates on less than carload lots of bakery goods, candy, groceries and earthenware also was on today's docket.

Representatives of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers' association spoke against the application of the Texas Mexican railway on the grounds that such a charge would be unjust to shippers.

They also said that if this privilege were granted the Texas Mexican, other railroads would make the same demand.

The railway line representatives took the position that prevailing rates on livestock were not high enough to enable them to pay for the cleaning of the cars without handling the shipments at a loss.

STATE PRESENTED WITH PORTRAIT OF COLONEL B. B. BUCK

RESERVE OFFICERS ASSOCIATION OF TEXAS PRESENTS PORTRAIT

AUSTIN, Sept. 13.—(P)—A portrait of Col. Beaumont B. Buck today was officially presented to the Reserve Officers Association of Texas and was hung in the senate chamber of the state capitol.

Gov. Dan Moody, in the address of acceptance on behalf of the state, said Col. Buck had brought honor to Texas and it was fitting for his picture to hang on the walls of the senate chamber along with portraits of General Albert Sidney Johnson, Gen. John H. Huie and other distinguished Texans.

The presentation was made by Captain L. C. Chapman of San Antonio, president of the Reserve Officers' Association, Texas department.

Col. Buck, who is now in charge of recruiting services at Fort Sam Houston and will be marshal of the largest parade to be staged during the National Legion convention, was named a cadet to West Point from Washington county, Texas, 48 years ago.

He served with distinction in the Spanish-American war and in the Filipino insurrection. During the World War he was promoted first to the rank of brigadier general and then to that of major general. He received the Distinguished Service Cross, the French Croix De Guerre with palm and was made a Chevalier of the Legion of Honor.

DELEGATES CHEER AS TARVER SCORED KLAN AND REPUBLICANS IN HIS EULOGY OF GOV. SMITH

DALLAS, Sept. 12.—(Spl.)—Hon. W. A. Tarver, of Corsicana, was named permanent chairman of the state democratic convention held in Dallas, Tuesday.

Chairman Tarver's address in accepting the office was one of the high points in a day of eloquent oratory. He made the life of Governor Smith the keynote in his speech and described the injection of religious and prohibition issues in the political campaign.

A wholehearted ovation was given Chairman Tarver as he was escorted to the speaking rostrum. John Holiday, El Paso, and C. L. Lester, Corsicana, escorted the chairman.

Tall, black-haired and towering over the men about him, Tarver was an impressive figure.

He was introduced to the convention by Steve L. Pinckney, Houston, and at once launched into his address.

Tarver Scores Klan.

"There is the deepest gratitude in my heart today for this honor you have bestowed upon me," Mr. Tarver began. "It is hardly the time for me to make a long speech, and yet I would not be true to myself, I would not be true to you, if I did not say something of the situation today. An alien organization in the last few years has threatened to take control of the democratic party. It sought to obtain control of the execution of the laws by capturing the court houses of the commonwealth. It sought to become the guardian and censor of the private conduct of the citizens of Texas.

"Down in Williamson county there was a blond-haired, blue-eyed boy hardly out of the university who stepped into the breach and said: 'You shall not have charge of Williamson county.' And so Dan Moody marched on to the attorney general's office and stayed there until a new issue arose—the issue of a public office being a public trust. Again he stood in the breach and led the forces of righteousness to success."

For several seconds the delegates drowned Tarver's voice with their applause.

Eulogy for Smith.

He went on to praise the gubernatorial administration of Moody, the highway department, the prison system reforms and the economies achieved in state government. "The greatest service Dan Moody has done is his state and people," Tarver continued, "is the elevating to the pinnacle from which, pray God it may never fall, the high ideal that public offices are public trusts."

Then he launched out on a eulogy of Governor Al Smith, and as he traced the career of the New York governor, from the day that he walked beside his grief-stricken mother as her father was laid to rest, until he stood, the nominee for president of the democratic party, Tarver proved himself a real speech-biter. Again and again he turned the auditorium into tumult as the delegates cheered on his declarations to an echo. He painted a graphic, colorful and at times pathetic picture of Governor Smith's rise from a fatherless boy in a New York tenement. Then he turned his cannons on William Randolph Hearst, mercilessly scorning him for the "whispering campaign" he charged Hearst had launched against Smith.

Moody and Smith. "Alfred E. Smith comes to us a man chosen in the open forum, almost by unanimous vote," he continued. "And now who are they, who sat in that convention which nominated him, to say that they will not now support him? Ever since I was elected to the legislature when I was hardly more than a boy, I have been a prohibitionist by principle and practice. Now let's see what the other side of this picture is. What if the great honor should fall eight years from now on our beloved Dan Moody? What would you say if the anti-prohibitionists said, 'No, we will not vote for Dan Moody for president because he is a prohibitionist'?"

"The right of one to do that is just as sacred as that of the other."

The speaker asserted that if the national ticket were acceptable today to Dan Moody it ought to be good enough for Alvin Moody. He said that if it were good enough for Tom Connally it looks like it should be good enough for Tom Love.

"If it is acceptable to Morris Sheppard it seems to me it doesn't make much difference whether it is acceptable or not to Atticus Webb."

Tarver turned to the days of reconstruction and painted a stirring picture of the South at that critical time?" he demanded. "Was it the republicans?"

"'No! No!' shouted the delegates and from back in the aisle someone shouted: 'It was Tammany Hall!'

"Yes," Tarver resumed, "out of New York came the tawny form of Tammany to the rescue of the South."

The crowd broke out in applause again.

Concluding, he declared that the party now had a cause for which would be sounded a charge that could make even the dead fall into line.

Permanent Organization.

The report of the committee on permanent organization, adopted by the convention, brought to the permanent organization these offerings:

Chairman, W. A. Tarver, Navarro county; vice chairman, Mrs. Lee J. Roundtree, Brazos county; secretary, Margie E. Neal, Panola county; assistant secretaries, Ernest May, Tarrant county; C. C. Benfro, Dallas county; sergeant at arms, Pat O'Keefe, Dallas county, and Tom Hickman, Travis county.

Following the report of this committee, senatorial district delegations caucused and recommended the following members of the new state executive committee:

State Committee.

The new state democratic executive committee was chosen to serve two years, headed by Judge W. W. Wilson, Georgetown, chairman. The members of the committee were named by the executive senatorial districts, and the members of the delegations of delegations.

viate depressions in rural living conditions.

For Farm Relief.

Urge Texas representatives in congress to continue their efforts to reduce unfair and inequitable burdens imposed upon agricultural classes.

Requests Texas railroad commission to use its best efforts to bring about a reduction in unjust and burdensome rates now imposed upon the Sidewalks of New York.

Mrs. Lee J. Roundtree of Bryan, permanent secretary, made a brief talk.

Certified Votes.

The committee appointed by Chairman Tarver, on motion of Myron G. Blalock, to canvass the primary returns consisted of R. L. Henry, Harris county, chairman; R. H. Good, Delta county, and Paul Page Jr., Bastrop county. This committee certified the votes cast in the first and second primaries and declared the winners in contests for state offices. The secretary of the convention was instructed to certify the returns to the Secretaries of State.

For Higher Education.

Encourages the legislature to adequately support and maintain institutions of higher learning.

Encourages enactment of legislation to preserve to the people the streams and rivers as public resources.

Issues of Campaign.

Former Congressman James Young, Kaufman, was invited to the platform for a Democratic speech, and he occupied an hour or more while the convention was at ease in making an eloquent plea for the support of the democratic ticket and platform. Mrs. Helen Moore, nominee for the legislature from Texas City, was invited to speak, and made a brief address, in which she said the women of Texas no longer are blinded by the religious and prohibition issues in the campaign.

Bailey Incensed at Hoover-Dem Button

Members of the Navarro county delegation who attended the state convention of the democratic party in Dallas, Tuesday, told an interesting story with reference to what purported to have highly incensed former Senator Joseph W. Bailey and which caused him to go on the war-path. The delegates rated him as a former senator and served the convention hall in fine humor. Some lady delegate approached him and pinned a button on his coat lapel. Mr. Bailey bowed graciously and thanked her, thinking it was a "regular" button, not having his spectacles on, and a few minutes later, he either discovered that the button was one of those of the "Hoover-Democrat" variety, or some of his friends apprised him of it. The button was snatched off and according to those who related the incident, he expressed himself in strong language and was on a tirade for some time.

Among the Corsicanas who attended the convention were Judge and Mrs. Hawkins Scarborough, W. L. Lester, J. T. Newsom, Mrs. W. A. Hammert, Mrs. Frank Garvin, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Allen, S. B. Jordan, W. W. Harris, W. A. Tarver, state chairman; T. W. Lovett, Mr. and Mrs. El J. Gibson, Wayne R. Howell, Bill Conner and C. H. DeLafosse.

Commissioners' Court.

At the Monday afternoon session of the Navarro county commissioners' court, the county tax rate for the ensuing year was set at 45¢ per $100 valuation for this year.

This is the same as that of last year and is as recommended by the budget of County Auditor J. M. Tullus. All members of the court were present.

The court allowed the application made on behalf of the home demonstration agent for the negro women of the county for $300 to aid the appropriations for this work by the state federal extension department.

No definite action was taken on the proposed joint building of the 1800 foot from North Twenty-ninth street and West Second avenue to where the present pavement begins on the State Orphans' Home road, due to the absence of County Engineer W. W. McClelland.

Definite action will probably be taken at the next meeting of the court. It is expected that the county will appropriate sufficient funds for 18 feet and the city and property owners will likely furnish the remaining funds to make a 30 foot pavement for this distance to connect the highway with the pavement in Corsicana on that road.

Calls upon all officers and party members to support settled policy of the state looking to the destruction of traffic in alcoholic liquors.

"We submit that no law can be ignored except at the cost of public integrity, and that disobedience of any law by common consent, if carried to its logical end, would establish a precedent that might be followed in defiance of anarchy. We are opposed to any repeal of our state constitutional amendment prohibiting the manufacture, sale or transportation of intemperate liquors."

TEXAS DEMOCRATS STAND PLEDGED TO SUPPORT NOMINEE

GOVERNOR'S STATEMENT OF POSITION FOLLOWS VIOLENT CONVENTION SCENES

DALLAS, Sept. 12.—(P)—The regular democratic party in Texas headed by Governor Dan Moody stood pledged today to support the party's presidential nominee, Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York, and at the same time continue the fight to exterminate the liquor traffic, after one of the most violent conventions the party has ever held in its history.

The governor's statement of his position and the platform declarations came only after the atmosphere of yesterday's convention had been cleared of anti-Smith sentiment through the medium of a wholesale expulsion or bolt, depending on the viewpoint, of all anti-Smith elements from the convention and the platform.

Advocates that stabilized minimum per capita school appropriation of $15 be continued; that an adequate appropriation to aid rural schools be made; and that provisions of law be continued by the 41st legislature to guarantee payment of tuition of children from rural districts while attending high schools in other districts.

Favors laws to safeguard health and lives of workmen in their employment. "We believe labor and capital should have fair treatment by the government, and that rights of each should be respected and protected."

For Higher Education.

Encourages the legislature to adequately support and maintain institutions of higher learning.

SCHOOL OPENING BRINGS NEW TRAFFIC HAZARD; MOTORISTS URGED USE EXTREME CAUTION

The following article carrying a warning of the danger school children are subjected to through the myriads of automobiles that hurry along the city streets and given by officials of the American Automobile association, appeared in Sunday's issue of the Dallas News and a request has been made that it be reproduced in the Sun:

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—Re-opening of public, private and parochial schools in all parts of the country will create definite traffic hazards in every municipality and rural district, and it is distinctly up to every motorist to drive in such a way as to overcome these hazards. This was the keynote of a warning issued Saturday by national headquarters of the American Automobile association, in which it was pointed out that the prevention of accidents involving school children is largely within the province of the individual motorist.

"School days are here again," said the statement, "bringing millions of children upon the streets and highways. Among these millions are little ones of 4, 5 and 6 years of age who for the first time are leaving the protection and safety of their homes to venture forth into an entirely new world. This new world will have problems enough for these children without that of the recklessly driven automobile."

"While the teaching of safety in the schools throughout the country and the effective work of the school boy patrols has done much to protect these tiny tots, the problem still remains as a challenge to the individual problem."

"If every motor car owner always kept in mind the enormous difference his care and consideration would mean in keeping these children safe from physical harm as well as from fear that may mar the rest of their lives, there is no question but that a mighty stride would be taken toward street and highway safety in so far as it affects the younger pedestrians."

In connection with the teaching of safety in the schools, now a part of the curriculum in many states, the A. A. A. said that while those children who have had one or several years in school have been taught the rudiments of safety, they can not always be expected to exercise the utmost care. After playing during the summer on safe playgrounds, there is always a tendency toward a let-down in their safety sense when they first return to the streets.

Policeman Griffen Arrested Ex-Convict

City Policeman M. S. Griffen, arrested a Mexican on suspicion several days ago and the investigation which followed brought to light the fact that the prisoner was wanted in several places on charges of burglary.

Officer Griffen's suspicions were aroused when he learned the Mexican had sold two second hand silk dresses in the city. He immediately arrested the man and brought him to headquarters where the prisoner was photographed and finger prints made. Answers to inquiries sent out by Chief of Police Knight resulted in the prisoner being turned over to Williamson county officers. He was wanted in Taylor in connection with the robbery of a residence. Further information also revealed the fact the prisoner is wanted in Teague on a similar charge and letters found on him indicated he had also been operating in Shawnee, Oklahoma. The prisoner was also an ex-convict.

PAUL B. HARPER ANNOUNCES RESIGNATION AS EDUCATIONAL DIRECTOR OF FIRST BAPTIST

The resignation of Paul B. Harper as educational director of the First Baptist church of this city was announced Wednesday night at the regular church conference.

Mr. Harper stated he had accepted a place as director of music at the First Baptist church of San Antonio of which Dr. L. E. Gates is the pastor. Mrs. Harper has also been named church organist of the San Antonio church.

Mr. and Mrs. Harper will leave for their new home about October 1st, where they will immediately take up their new duties. Mr. Harper will be in charge of all musical activities of the San Antonio church.

In announcing his resignation Mr. Harper thanked the members of the local church for their loyal co-operation during his four years stay in this city and said it was only through the friendly assistance of the Corsicana Baptist that he had been able to prepare him-

Intimate Glimpses Presented Jury In Beitzel Case

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 13.—(P)—Brief glimpses of the romance of Russell St. Clair Beitzel and Miss Barbara Maurer, 19-year-old Philadelphia girl with whom he lived here and with whose death he is charged, were before the trial jury here today.

Women cried as they testified yesterday concerning their visits with the Maurer girl, and of events which followed her disappearance about June 23.

Tears filled the eyes of the women as they told of the anticipation Miss Maurer had shown when she told them of the picnic she and Beitzel planned in Laurel Canyon June 24, last day she was seen alive. It was in Laurel Canyon that the nude body of the girl was found.

Washington Bishop Urges Fight on Smith Judge Advocates

TACOMA, Wash., Sept. 13.—(P)—Titus L. Rice, of the Methodist Episcopal church, yesterday urged every Methodist minister and layman to get into the political campaign this year in opposition to Alfred E. Smith, Democratic presidential candidate, and "any move to bring liquor back to America" in opening the Puget Sound conference here.

Withdrawal Support Pastors in Politics

DALLAS, Sept. 13.—(P)—Withdrawal of "patronage" from pastors who are making political stumps out of their pulpits in the circulation of false slanders designed to lead any uninformed persons away from the Democratic party, was advocated by Justice Maxfield Rice, Sherman, Texas, in an address to the organization meeting of the Dallas County Women's Democratic campaign committee yesterday.

Regular Friday Evening Open House Zion's Rest School

"Ye Olden Tyme" open house at Zion's Rest Friday evening promises to draw a good crowd. The usual plan of entertainment will be carried out and the entire formal program will consist of old time music presented by "old timers."

The headliner of the evening will be solo numbers by Mrs. Patti Taylor, grandmother over seven years of age, who possesses a wonderfully sweet voice and winning manner.

Mrs. Taylor is a great favorite over the country as soloist and because of her ability she has a large number of people who expect to hear her presentation of songs of the long ago.

String music and a dramatization of Riley's "That Old Sweetheart of Mine," and Edgar Guest's "Heap o' Livin'" will be other features of the program. The last two numbers will be presented as one-act playlets.

The public is cordially invited.

No admission is charged for any of these Friday evening affairs and they are sponsored by the P. T. A.

Cotton and Seed Bring Good Price

Wills Point Market

WILLS POINT, Sept. 13.—(Spl.)—Showers fell over this section Sunday, settling the dust and causing a decline in temperature that has aided cotton yields. Recent rains are running near 400 bushels the day with the gins running almost full time day and night. Mill seed are selling for $33, with others bringing $35 to $50. Cotton sold Wednesday as high as 18 1/2¢ for extra staple, the average being about a cent lower.

BOLTOCRATS PLAN FOR CAMPAIGN OVER TEXAS AGAINST AL

DALLAS, Sept. 12.—(Spl.)—The split yesterday in the Democratic state convention here will convince every loyal prohibitionist and lover of good government in Texas that this state will not support the Smith-Robinson ticket, B. D. Sartin, campaign manager, said today.

Sartin stated that further plans for organizing anti-Smith forces would be laid Saturday, when Alvin Moody, Houston, chairman, and other leaders will be in Dallas.

Sartin announced also that Senator Robert Owen of Oklahoma had been obtained for the latest speaking engagements in the interest of the New York government.

The dates were announced as Fort Worth Oct. 27; Houston, Oct. 28, and San Antonio, Oct. 29.

REV. H. J. ELLIS IN MINISTRY FOR PAST
TWENTY-FIVE YEARS
ANNIVERSARY OF ORDIN-
ATION OF LOCAL RECTOR
TO BE OBSERVED

Twenty-five years ago the Rev. H. J. Ellis, rector of St. John's Episcopal church, Corsicana, was ordained into the priesthood of the Protestant Episcopal church of the United States, the event taking place in Sault Ste Marie, Michigan. Fitting observance of the anniversary of this event in the life of their beloved rector will be had by St. John's Parish on Tuesday, Sept. 25, it has been announced.

Part of the observance will be in the form of a special meeting of the Clergy of the Diocese of Dallas, of which St. John's Parish is a part. Members of the clergy from all parishes of the diocese, led by Bishop Harry T. Moore, will gather in Corsicana on the date above mentioned for an all-day session, this to be followed by a reception in the Parish Hall during the evening hours to which the public is cordially invited.

The clerics will convene at 10:30 a. m. Tuesday, Sept. 25, at which time there will be a celebration of the Holy Communion, followed by an address by Bishop Moore. This will be followed by a luncheon for members of the visiting clergy. During the afternoon hours the clerics will resume their sessions.

From 8 to 10 p. m. Tuesday there will be a general reception in the Parish Hall, to which all friends of the rector and his family as well as friends of St. John's and its members are given a cordial invitation. There will be no special invitations issued, but it is desired that all who wish call during these hours. A program for the reception hours will be arranged in which music will have an important place.

The Rev. Mr. Ellis was ordained into the priesthood of the Episcopal church in Sault Ste Marie, Michigan, on the thirteenth Sunday after Trinity, twenty-five years ago. The first ten years of his ministry were devoted to work in the diocese of Marquette, Mich. He then came to Texas and for five years was archdeacon of the East of the Diocese of Dallas, serving his diocese in the eastern section of the diocese, with his headquarters at Greenville. Ten years ago St. John's Parish, Corsicana, called him to the rectorship of this parish and he has continued in that capacity since that time.

The Rev. Mr. Ellis is one of the most popular ministers in Corsicana, being loved and respected not only by the members of his own congregation, but also being a fav-

"GREATEST CRISIS"
CONVENTION STATE
W. C. T. U. CALLED

MRS. CLAUDE DE VAN WATTS
ISSUES CALL FOR MEET-ING IN GALVESTON

AUSTIN, Sept. 12.—(P)—Mrs. Claude De Van Watts of Austin, State President of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, today issued an official call for the "greatest crisis" convention of that organization at Galveston October 13.

The W. C. T. U. has accepted the challenge of the wet minority of the democratic party which has succeeded in nominating a man who would repeal the 18th amendment.

Mrs. De Van Watts said in sounding the call, "Our victory will be the greatest of all victories.

"Our country has reached a crisis in its history and such a crisis can not well fail to activate consecrated Christian patriots, therefore this convention cannot fail to be a momentous occasion held as it is on the eve of a great election, the result of which is of such vital importance to our cause of prohibition."

The W. C. T. U. realizes through its long years of struggle for the cause of prohibition that not states only, but the entire nation is a soldier to the line of feast resistance. Therefore I urge all prohibitionists to come together and pray and work for renewed courage and strength for the last few weeks of this great political battle.

Currie School to Open Next Monday

DOVER, Del., Sept. 12.—(P)—The state republican organization has emerged victorious in a bitter factional fight over a gubernatorial candidate.

The nominee is C. Douglas Buck, son-in-law of United States Senator T. Coleman DuPont. When Buck was named at the state convention yesterday over L. D. Short, Sussex county delegates walked out of the hall, declaring they had not received a "square deal." Sussex county had claimed the right to name the candidate for governor by right of rotation.

Frank V. DuPont, son of Senator DuPont, and Buck were the only members of DuPont family who figured openly in the convention. Frank DuPont was a delegate from Wilmington.

Judge R. P. Boone of Eureka was a business visitor in Corsicana, Wednesday morning.

Notice
There will be an ice cream supper Friday night, Sept. 14th at Eureka, benefit of the Boy Scouts. Everybody invited.

Dallas Attorney
Named Secretary
State Committee

DALLAS, Sept. 12.—(P)—Appointment of Albert Sidney Johnson, local attorney, as secretary of the state Democratic executive committee was announced today by D. W. Wilcox, Georgetown chairman of the committee. Johnson succeeds Richard T. Fleming of Houston.

An executive conference between National Committeeman Jed C. Adams; W. A. Thomas, state Democratic campaign manager; Chairman Wilcox and members of the new state executive committee was started today. Its purpose was to co-ordinate activity of the state campaign committee and that of the executive committee.

Gov. Dan Moody took no part in the council, leaving early for Fort Worth.

LAD IS SERIOUSLY INJURED WHEN RIFLE
FIRED ACCIDENTALLY

Donald Price, aged 14 years, son of Bill Price, 2320 West Fourth avenue, in the Navarro county hospital in a serious condition as a result of being accidentally shot in the left side Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock with a .22 rifle in the hands of Elmer Purifoy, Jr., aged 15, son of Elmer Purifoy. He was reported in a serious condition Tuesday morning. The boy had not been located, it was stated.

The two lads were walking along the street with the Purifoy boy carrying the rifle when a bird was seen and the Price boy asked for the rifle with which to shoot the bird. As the Purifoy boy handed the gun to him, it was accidentally discharged, the bullet entering the left side, it was stated. An operation was performed.

SALESMAN INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT
HERE WEDNESDAY

H. E. Baum, of Dallas, traveling salesman, was treated at the Corsicana Hospital and Clinic for bruises and numerous strains shortly before noon Wednesday following an automobile accident at the corner of West Seventh avenue and Fourteenth street.

Baum's automobile and a car belonging to John R. Mays crashed at the street intersection and were badly damaged. No one else was injured.

The Business Girl's FOOTWEAR WARDROBE

To be smartly shod for all occasions, at minimum expense, the business girl selects her shoes with careful regard for her costumes and for occasions.

In this way, she achieves a smart ensemble, and by wearing each pair of shoes only with certain costumes, always is appropriately and becomingly attired.

Her business shoes will probably be one-straps with medium heels, because medium heels are stylish as well as comfortable. Or perhaps she will have a second pair—oxford ties. These like the one-straps will be semi-tailored. One pair might be black and the other brown.

For week-ends out of doors she will have a pair of sturdy oxfords—possibly in a sports style. If she walks, they will be of the low broad-heel type, so that she may thoroughly enjoy every hike. These sturdy shoes, if not too "sporty," might even be worn to business in wet weather.

Hosiery Harmony

Likewise hosiery will be selected for occasions and costumes, choosing styles and colors that are appropriate. She will save her silk hose by having lace or wool for sports wear. This plan of "appropriateness" for both shoes and hosiery is a certain way to economy and smartness.

HOO RAH THE B. & J. Big Annual SALE

Will Begin Saturday, September 15th and Continues Through Saturday, September 22nd

Never in the history of Corsicana has merchandise been sold so cheap. The knife sure has gone into this mammoth stock we are carrying here. Mr. B. and Mr. J. both say "Sell 'em Boys," without regard to original cost and that sure is what we are going to do.

Competition has bucked some before because we so far undersell them. But now we are going to give them Sure Enough Something to buck about, because folks they are sure going cheap in this great big store of ours.

We will not name prices here since there are so many hot ones that we just don't know where to begin, and while B. & J. always sells them cheap, when you see the big price cards cut so low it will simply make you gape and wonder how we do it.

Sure enough, we are not trying to fool you. And to convince you, all we ask, is that you just come in and see for yourself.

Thousands of dollars will be saved by Navarro county folks during this sale and other big sales that will come right on through the year, and we don't want you left out.

Practically every item in our mammoth stock will be marked down, some as much as fifty per cent and some even more than fifty per cent.

B. & J. buys 'em cheap and sells 'em cheap, this is why they do the biggest business in every town in which they do business.

Saturday, the 15th of September, will be the biggest day in the history of the Great B. & J. Business. We know it will for never have we cut and slashed prices as we have this time. We want to absolutely clean up our dry goods, shoes, ready-to-wear and hardware during this sale, and on October 1st, lay in an entirely new stock. Every item in these departments will melt away, and melt fast, for prices here will be marked down to unheard of prices. And groceries will be so cheap, that it will pay you to lay in a winter's supply.

All day Saturday a big barrel of good old fashioned lemonade will be on tap, and a nice little girl will pass it out to our customers Absolutely FREE.

Gather in our big store, meet our boys and let them meet you, for we are here to stay and grow, and we want you to help us and let us help you.

Remember the Date: Saturday, September 15th and the Close of This Big Sale Will Be Sat., Sept. 22nd.

The Place is Corsicana, 407-409 North Beaton Street.

GREATEST OF AIR MEETS SEES CLIMAX ON RACES THURSDAY

having made two starts from Las Vegas, Nev.

Cantwell First in Class C.

Robert W. Cantwell of Duncan, Oklahoma, finished first or the class C group and apparently led in elapsed time. His Lockheed entry was followed in seven minutes later by Captain C. D. B. Collier of New York in a Fairchild.

Both class B and class C divisions started their final dash from Yuma, Ariz., with a fuel stop at San Diego.

Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh stole some of the interest of the thousands of spectators from the air races yesterday. The flying colonel volunteered to "do what he could for the meet," and was temporarily assigned to the post left vacant by the death of Lieutenant J. J. Williams, leader of the army's "three flying musketeers," a stunt trio. Williams was killed in a crash while stunting with his companions on one of the early days of the meet, with Colonel Lindbergh leading the way in an army plane, the rearguard of the trio went through intricate maneuvers.

Covering the 120-mile course at a speed averaging 138.5 miles an hour, Lieutenant G. R. Acheson of the Third army attack group, won the first competition for the Mason M. Patrick trophy, offered in 1927 as a perpetual memorial to Major Mason M. Patrick, former chief of the army's air corps. Final competitions will be raced later.

Lieutenant Acheson's time was 51 minutes, 36 seconds. Lieutenant H. W. Anderson placed second with a time of 51 minutes, 46 seconds.

The fastest time for a single lap of 12 miles was made by Lieutenant O. C. George, with an average speed of 135 miles an hour.

Big Planes Roar
Over Continent

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., Sept. 13.—(P)—Six airplanes of the nine which raced into the air at the start of the 2,000-mile non-stop coast to coast air race were believed to be still winging their way toward Mines Field, Los Angeles, today.

Two of the nine were forced down not long after they had started and a third returned to the field. The other six, however, were believed to be still headed toward the Pacific Coast and the $22,500 in prizes which await the four making the best time.

High in the air and speeding along at 125 miles an hour, or better, five of the planes were sighted in three cities along the route. Only one was recognized as the black and orange Lockheed Vega piloted by John P. Morris and carrying Col. William Thaw II, veteran of the Lafayette Escadrille, as a passenger.

Thaw, as he had promised, circled over the air field at Pittsburgh, his home city, flying low enough so that his plane was recognized. That was 3:35 last night. Another plane, believed to be one of the long distance entrants, had passed over the field at 9:30, but was too high to be recognized. Two planes passed over the Columbus, O., field, one at 8 o'clock and the other at 10:50 but neither was recognized. Another plane passed over Terre Haute at 10:30 but was too high to be definitely recognized.

The planes still in the air, the time of their takeoffs (eastern standard time) and their race number follow:

26—Orange Buhl Sesquiplane; N. B. Namer, Spokane, pilot; 12:10:52.

26—Black and Orange Bellanca; Emil (Hard Luck) Burgin, pilot; 1:19:46.

100—Scarlet Bellanca; George Haldeman, pilot; 3:35:35.

188—Silver and Yellow Bellanca; Lieutenant Commander Jack Jeaman, U. S. N. A., pilot; 4:07:40.

44—White Lockheed Vega; Yankee Doodle; Col. Art Goebel, pilot; 6:10:10.

26—Black and Orange Lockheed Vega; John P. Morris, pilot; 6:58:20.

The three planes forced out of the race were:

The Stinson piloted by Clifford McMillen of Syracuse, N. Y., which was forced down near Wilkesbarre, Pa., by engine trouble.

The Stinson Junior piloted by Randolph Page of Northville, Mich., forced down at Allentown, Pa., by engine trouble.

Mrs. James S. Stillman's Bellanca North Star, piloted by Oliver Le Boutiller, who said he could not navigate with the emergency compass was installed when the regular compass was stolen just before the start.

Thaw and Morris Are Forced Down

DECATUR, Ind., Sept. 13.—(P)—Colonel William Thaw II of Pittsburgh and Captain John P. Morris, also of Pittsburgh, piloting a Lockheed Vega plane in the non-stop air race were forced down on a farm 15 miles south of Decatur at 12:30 a. m., today by a broken oil line.

Colonel Thaw suffered a dislocated arm and both were badly bruised. They were unable to return to the plane and laid in the wreckage of their plane until found by a farmer at 6 o'clock this morning. They were brought to a hospital here.

Further examination of Captain Morris disclosed a dislocated shoulder and a fracture of the pelvis.

Captain Morris was at the controls when the accident occurred.

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., Sept. 13.—(P)—Captain Stephen D. Green, of Cincinnati, the steering committee of the national air derby, received a telegram from John P. Morris today saying William Thaw's Lockheed-Vega entry in the non-stop air race had crashed at Decatur, Ind., both Morris and Thaw escaping without injuries.

When the aviators discovered an oil line was broken, they dropped a flare in an effort to locate a field for landing. The flare was extinguished, however, before it struck the ground and it struck a fence. The plane was demolished.

Ft. Worth Selected As Over-Night Stop

WORTH, Sept. 13.—(P)—Ft. Worth has been selected as the first stop for airplanes en route between Los Angeles and New York.

H. E. Baum of Dallas, who was badly bruised in an automobile accident Wednesday, has been advised the Corsicana Hospital will be open Thursday morning.

SENATOR ROBINSON LEAVES PLEA FOR TOLERANCE WHEN HE MOVES OUT OF VIRGINIA

ROBINSON SPECIAL CAR, En Route to Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 11.—(P)—Leaving behind in Virginia a plea for religious tolerance and an appeal that the battles of Thomas Jefferson for separation of church and state be remembered, Senator Robinson, the Democratic vice presidential nominee today carried his campaign farther down the Atlantic seaboard.

Moving forward to North Carolina, from which state rumblings of unrest in Democratic ranks have been heard, Mr. Robinson had arranged for two speeches, one at Raleigh tonight and another at Charlotte, on Wednesday.

In Richmond, his only stop in the Old Dominion, the senator last night devoted practically all of his address to an attack upon those who he said were opposing Governor Smith because of his membership in the Catholic church.

To this group he issued a challenge for them to come out "into boatman died, and Captain S. A. Simons of Baltimore, master of the vessel, listed among the injured, remained for the most part in an unconscious condition.

To the cause of the explosion, there was only conjecture. Captain Simons himself would advance no theory.

Home of Victims

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 13.—(P)—The boatman who lost his life in the explosion aboard the steamer Shreveport off the Carolina coast yesterday was John Wolske, 21, of Delaware Gardens, near Camden, N. J., according to the records of the United States shipping commission here.

Addressers of the other four dead men are: A. Bergman, chief mate, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Harry E. Hopkins, second mate, North Eastham, Mass.; D. Miranda, Pumpan, Asturias, Spain; Sven Person, machinist, Boston.

Paso the first night out and will be in Fort Worth the afternoon of September 20.

Selection of Fort Worth was announced in a telegram to the Association of Commerce.

Both class A and B airplanes will stop overnight here. Class C planes will be in a non-stop flight between the two cities.

Nick Mamer Down

SPOKANE, Wash., Sept. 13.—(P)—Nick Mamer, Spokane entrant in the non-stop transcontinental race from New York to Los Angeles was forced down, unhurt, at Rawlings, Wyo., 8:38 o'clock this morning. Mamer, 26, who, flying a Buhl sesquiplane, telephoned to his wife here.

Further examination of Captain Morris disclosed a dislocated shoulder and a fracture of the pelvis.

Captain Morris was at the controls when the accident occurred.

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., Sept. 13.—(P)—Captain Stephen D. Green, of Cincinnati, the steering committee of the national air derby, received a telegram from John P. Morris today saying William Thaw's Lockheed-Vega entry in the non-stop air race had crashed at Decatur, Ind., both Morris and Thaw escaping without injuries.

When the aviators discovered an oil line was broken, they dropped a flare in an effort to locate a field for landing. The flare was extinguished, however, before it struck the ground and it struck a fence. The plane was demolished.

Columbia Over Tulsa

TULSA, Sept. 13.—(P)—Charles Levine's famous Bellanca monoplane, the Columbia, soared over Tulsa at a height of about 12,000 feet at 11 a. m., today on its way to Los Angeles from New York.

One Writer's Rise To World Power By Great Experience

How the Most Potent Classics Were Produced—Great Living Makes Great Writing—A Christian Letter Written In One Ancient Hebrew City to Another.

BY WILLIAM T. ELLIS

In my letter files are scores of letters from an old friend, mostly dictated to a stenographer. They are all warm, cordial, helpful. But there is not a flash of inspiration in the lot—not a touch of imagination, not a trace of literary excellence. Their flavor is that of myriads of letters dictated every day in business offices. But now my friend has gone on a visit to Bible lands and this week wrote a letter from him that was a glowing, flashing, inspiring piece of literature. "Why he can write!" was one exclamation as the letter was read aloud.

What had happened, of course, was that a great experience and a great subject had tapped the unsuspected reservoirs of my friend's latent powers. He had quietly but had a great theme. The scenes of the Bible, and of classical history, had called forth in him unknown ability. He rose to the heights of his topic; just as a man in love will find himself using poetical expressions far above the normal range of his thought or language.

So it was with Paul. If he had remained in Jerusalem as Saul, the Pharisee, he would have spent his years unnoticed as a scribe and as a speaker engrossed in petty politics and ecclesiastical affairs. The littleness of his interests would have dwarfed his powers. But when he fared forth and found Christ for himself; and then became the last great adventure in the wide Roman world, he developed abilities such as even his mother had never dreamed of his possessing. His oratory became one of the world's permanent classics; and his letters set a mark in lofty philosophy and spirituality such as no man before or since ever attained. Millions of persons are these days studying Paul's life and letters only because the great plus of a transforming experience was added to Paul's life. This one little Jew, of two thousand years ago, absorbed in the Christian passion, has become a great intellectual and moral force in the world of today than any university.

From Ephesus to Corinth. Nobody ever dreamed—either writer or recipients—that these letters of Paul's were destined to become world classics and foundation stones of a universal faith. The author, simple and naturally unadorned, yet nobly eloquent, who were his beloved Christian protégés. The origin and destination of the epistles were as natural as those of any of the millions of letters in today's mail bags. Paul had no thought of writing profit, but of the love of God, who forever destined by God, who forever uses men's sincere labor, for ends beyond their own imagination.

Paul wrote in the teeming, idolatrous city of Ephesus when he wrote this First Letter to the Corinthian Christians, about 57 A. D. All about him were more worshippers of Diana of the Ephesians than there were worshippers of the true God. And in the still more corrupt pagan city of Corinth, the Christians were but a handful of humble folk, surrounded by idolators. It is well to recall this. Some Christians nowadays complain that it is hard to live their religion in their particular circumstances. But what of Paul's converts in their environment? Imagine having to walk the Christian way, amidst all the entangling heathendom of Corinth and Ephesus, where even the food one ate, and all social and civic practices, were contaminated by heathen significance. Letters to real folks were these epistles of Paul. All of his friends were straight out of paganism, or else out of Judaism. Nevertheless, the full standard of Christian character and conduct was required of them. In the opening salutation of the Letter we are studying, Paul addresses the Corinthian Christians, "To those called to be saints in Corinth!" "Called to be saints" in Chicago! "Called to be saints" in New York! "Called to be saints" in London, in Montreal, in Berlin, in Shanghai! Circumstances do not make saints: only the Gospel call does.

The Nameless Martyrs. Very ordinary persons, and prone to slum and to squabble, were those apostolic Christians. Yet they kept the faith and passed it on to succeeding power. The strength of the early Church was the body of believers, these nameless ones who were the prototypes of the rank and file of Christians today.

GALVESTON CHANNEL WILL BE DEEPENED; OLD DAYS REMINDER

EARLY SHIPPING DAYS SAW
LIGHTER SERVICE BEING USED BY STEAMERS

GALVESTON, Sept. 13.—(P)—Memories of the past when ships were unable to come to the docks because of shallow water were compelled to unload cargoes into lighters while anchored well out at sea are recalled here with beginning of dredging work which will give Galveston channel the greatest depth on the Gulf coast west of the Mississippi river.

More than half a century ago, before railroads became important factors in transportation between Texas and the older sections of the United States, virtually all the commerce of the southwest moved through Galveston, then a small but thriving island.

Full-rigged sailing vessels and ships in which "tea kettle" boilers were only incidental to the white spread of canvas afloat brought to the southwest through Galveston all the manufactured articles, foodstuffs, clothing and supplies consumed in the fastgrowing territory. And with Texas cotton stowed in their holds these vessels sailed back to New England or to European countries.

Years after the war between the states the depth of water over the bars across the channel leading to Galveston harbor was only from eight to twelve feet, and fully loaded ships could neither enter nor leave port.

At the behest of Galveston and Southwestern shippers, seeking an outlet for their agricultural products, the federal government was prevailed on to aid and a stone jetty was thrown up into the gulf to restrain the tidal sweep from silting the channel. Later the government selected Galveston as the point for building a deepwater harbor between the Mississippi and the Rio Grande and the present jetty system was developed.

A depth of 25, and later of 30 feet, was attained, the latter having been sufficient in recent years to handle the largest ships trading in the gulf. But with larger ships being constructed and heavy deadweight cargoes of grain, cotton and sulphur moving from Galveston, a new project depth of 35 feet for the outer channel and 32 feet along the waterfront has been adopted and more than $600,000 appropriated for the work. The new depth will make it possible for almost the largest vessels afloat to load here.

Four million yards of material will be removed from the channel along the waterfront to reach the depth of 32 feet, with an additional overdepth of two feet being allowed to care for silting. The work probably will require six months or more. The material is being pumped chiefly on Pelican Spit, a small island fronting Galveston channel and it is expected the grade of the land will be raised several feet, making available several industrial sites. The remainder of the material is to be pumped behind the new East End Seawall on Galveston Island. The work is being done under contract by a dredging company under supervision of army engineers.

SMITH AND STATE LEADERS WILL DISCUSS SITUATION IN NEW YORK STATE THURSDAY

ALBANY, Sept. 13.—(P)—The political situation in New York state, which Governor Smith's managers figure must line up for him in November if he is to win over Herbert Hoover, drew the attention of the democratic presidential nominees today as state party leaders gathered for a conference with him at the executive mansion.

The meeting, scheduled for late in the day, was set aside for a general discussion of plans already made and to be made with regard to organization preparatory to the state nominating convention at Rochester October 1 and 2 when a ticket will be named and a platform adopted.

No other engagements were on the governor's calendar for the day. Last night he broke his long silence on what has been described as a "whispering campaign" against him by issuing a formal statement for publication today, branding as "slanderous" an accusation that he was "disgustingly intoxicated" at the New York state fair at Syracuse August 30.

There were indications today that the democratic nominee might counter attack in another direction soon in an effort to prove false other derogatory statements said to have been circulated to injure his presidential chances. Meanwhile he will continue to work on state business and probably take a rest at the end of the week so as to be in good shape for departure Sunday on his first campaign speaking tour.

REPUBLICANS WIN MAINE BY LARGEST VOTE IN HISTORY

WILLIAM T. GARDNER WAS ELECTED GOVERNOR BY UP-
WARDS OF 78,000

WASHINGTON Sept. 11. (AP)—Maine's overwhelming majority for the republican state and senatorial tickets brought optimistic statements today from republican leaders generally as to the outcome of the presidential contest in November, but Herbert Hoover witheld comment.

Senator Curtis, the party's vice presidential nominee, declared the Maine result was a "sign of the trend in the national election."

"The vote shows what the way the world is biwing," he said.

Chairman Work of the republican national committee issued a statement calling attention to the heavy majority for the G. O. P. in the state which far exceeded that of four years ago when Calvin Coolidge rolled up the largest plurality ever received there by a presidential candidate.

PORLTAND, Me., Sept. 11. (AP)—Maine went republican in the state election yesterday more than two to one. The republican majority for governor which Senator Fredrick Hale said in a campaign speech must go over 40,000 "or the rest of the country will say we have lost our grip," was upwards of 78,000.

This was the largest majority ever given a candidate for governor in Maine, the nearest approach being the republican margin of 65,346 in 1920. In the presidential election of 1924 Coolidge carried the state by a plurality of 96,476 over Davis and by a majority of 85,094 over the combined vote of Davis and La Follette.

With 44 precincts missing out of the 633 in the state the vote was:

For Governor

William T. Gardner, (R) 144,650.

Edward C. Moran, Jr. (D) 64,754.

For Senator

Frederick Hale, (R) 141,339.

Herbert E. Holmer (D) 62,467.

Except for one precinct in Portland where split ballots delayed the counting, all the missing precincts were very small towns. Gardner carried every county in the state. He carried all the cities except Bideford and Lewiston, both of which are normally democratic by wide margins.

Republican Congressman.

Congressman Carroll L. Beedy in the first district, Wallace H. White, Jr. in the second and John E. Nelson in the third, all republicans, were re-elected by substantial majorities, and Donald W. Show, republican, was an easy victor in the fourth district. The closest contest was in the second district where the democrats had made their hardest campaign, their nominee for governor and senator both being residents of that district.

Governor Elect Gardner is a graduate of Harvard, where he took an active part in football and rowing. He is a world war veteran and a former speaker of the Maine house of representatives. His home is in Gardner and he is a law partner of Congressman Nelson.

Senator Hale was re-elected for his third term. The three republican congressmen re-elected all have served several terms.

Contrary to predictions of a heavy vote freely made during the campaign, the total vote cast was about 45,000 less than that cast for governor in 1924, the last presidential election year when the western republican defeated Pattison, democrat, by a majority of 36,655. In the last state election two years ago the total vote was 181,524, and the republican majority for governor was 20,028.

Comparison With 1924.

Four years ago the democrats carried five cities for governor: Bangor, Bideford, Lewiston, Old Town and Waterville—and one county, Androscoggin. Yesterday Bideford, which went democratic in 1924 by a vote of 4480 to 1035, remained in the democratic column by a vote of 1041 to 1541. Lewiston, the only other city lost by the republicans, was one of the few places in the state to show an increase in its total vote, the democrats carrying it in 1924 by a vote of 6177 to 4998 and yesterday 5847 to 3043. This is the home city of Congressman White.

Portland, with one precinct missing, showed a total republican vote within 300 of that cast four years ago while the democratic vote fell off by 3800. Bangor's democratic margin of 252 votes in 1924 was turned into a republican majority of 2398. Old Town, which showed a democratic margin of 449 in 1924, went republican by 473. Waterville had the closest vote of any of the cities, its democratic majority of 1022 four years ago being turned into a republican majority of 204.

BAPTIST MISSION FUNDS ALLEGED USED TO FORWARD MOVIE CAREERS OF GIRLS

ATLANTA, Sept. 11. (AP)—Clinton S. Carnes, missing treasurer of the Southern Baptist convention, was indicted by the Fulton county grand jury today on a charge of embezzeling $60,000 from the church.

A bench warrant for Carnes' arrest was issued in superior court and bond assessed at $50,000 in the event of his apprehension.

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 11. (AP)—Evidence that Clinton S. Carnes, missing treasurer of the Southern Baptist Home Mission board, sponsored the moving picture careers of two girls while a $1,000,000 shortage accumulated in his accounts, was ready for submission today to a grand jury investigating Carnes' affairs.

Thomas B. Scott, receiver for Carnes' properties, announced yesterday that not only had Carnes "put an accurate record of his patronage, but that there was found in his private papers a contract between him and the young women. This agreement, Scott said, provided that Carnes was to receive a part of the earnings of Miss Sonja Nordine and Miss Lois Griffin. The contract was made through Mrs. Louise Pope, formerly of Atlanta.

The receiver said he was told the girls were with Mrs. Pope in Hollywood, attending a school for motion picture actresses. In response to appeals from Mrs. Pope for funds, Scott said he had wired her that Carnes had disappeared and that no more money would be forthcoming.

Scott's inspection showed that Carnes had invested nearly $12,000 in the talent of the two girls over a period of 22 months. Miss Nordine having received $3,721.82, Miss Griffin $5,138.61 and Mrs. Pope $3,044.

While the Home Mission Board was preparing to show a grand jury that Carnes kept purported speculations over a period of years from the eyes of church officials and auditors, the United States Fidelity and Bonding company of Baltimore launched a nation-wide search for him, backed by a request for him, backed by a re-
